Vintage Sport Heritage watch in polished steel, Bell & Ross

THE NEW CLASSIC

Bell & Ross pays tribute to the legendary aircraft, a small, twin-engine, 10-seat business jet called the Mystère 20, which took flight on May 4, 1963 leading to its commercial success as the Falcon. Setting the benchmark in aviation, it's little wonder that Bell & Ross collaborated with Dassault Aviation to create a collection of watches called the Vintage Sport Heritage. Within the collection are two handsome limited-edition timepieces, the Vintage Falcons, which celebrate the Falcon's 50th anniversary. With a dark brown dial and a chocolate-coloured leather strap, the watches have the outline of the Falcon silk-screened on the dial at 6 o'clock and are limited to only 500 pieces each.
